Roy Anderson Revives His "Dear Folks" Series of Letters

In wartime Roy Anderson wrote a famous series of letters which he mimeographed and sent out to servicemen and their families, reviving the series in peacetime under the title "Dear Folks."

His last one was issued in July 1970, and he was at work on the next one in August when taken down with a bad case of the shingles. Your editor has always thought Roy's letters a most valuable contribution to local history, and tried vainly to get him to do them as a regular newspaper column.

Roy has just sent me a batch of his new issues, and I am going to run excerpts from them now and then. Here is the opener:

By ROY ANDERSON

Dear Folks: I'm at the office (August, 1970) time on my hands, so here goes again. Last week one of my friends left with me a cartoon which I enjoyed. The picture was of a He Hippie and a she Hippie—slouchy, long beads, etc., and under it this: "I'll run over and pick up my unemployment check and then drop off at the University to see what's holding up my check on my Federal Education Grant and look into my research grant check. Meanwhile, you go to the free V.D. Clinic and check on your tests and then go to the free Health Center to get my new glasses. We will meet at the Federal Building at noon for the mass picketing of stinking establishment." It's with us—we have it—what can we do?

And now I read where many who got welfare checks and "commodities" are now "Demonstrating"—picketing the Welfare Office, demanding an increase with which to buy furniture, mattresses, household appliances, vacuum cleaners and such. I'm not in favor of more money for things we didn't have long ago—but we worked to get them. I am in favor of getting them a broom. Mama never had a vacuum cleaner, but we had a mop made of shucks, and used lye soap which we made in the yard in a wash pot, and the older girls kept the floors clean. We, boys swept the yard with a brush broom. Did you ever sleep on a shuck mattress? Bed ticking stuffed with shucks, and pillows made from goose or duck feathers. The state didn't furnish them. We had a goose—everyone did, but the Government didn't furnish 'em with other "commodities."

An advertisement in the Farmer's Journal: "Young farmer wants to meet a girl of marriageable age with tractor. Please send picture of tractor." Some of you older folks may remember these people. Recently the body of Mrs. Fred Shinnerer was shipped back here and buried in the family lot at Rose Hill. Someone asked if I knew Fred—I did. He played ball with Neely Black, my older brother, Tom; "Pud"; Knobel, Earl Brazell, Dot Porterfield, et al. However, I knew Fred's father—we called "Old Man Shinnerer"—who had a frame shop in the corner of E. Second and S. Walnut Streets where later was the P.O. and now the School Administrative Office. In front of the shop was a long wooden gun hung by wires sticking out front. There was no doubt about what he did—a gun repair shop. We never heard of neon signs. Now, unless the sign is all lit up by electricity, no one can see it.

In this month's Readers Digest is an article by an Army Nurse—don't read it unless you want to shed some tears. She was stationed at an Army hospital in Guam, a hospital for amputees only—victims of an undeclared war in Vietnam. Some with one arm, one leg, or none. She tells of the spirit of these boys—some 18 years old, how they were determined to get out and make their own living. She told of the "Dear John" letters she read for them, and the determination to get out—with wooden or metal arms and legs, and make their own way in life.

This made me think of Don Nichols who played football

War Crisis Again Looms in Troubled Middle East

By MICHAEL GROSS

Associated Press Writer

JERUSALEM (AP) — Foreign Minister Abba Eban called on Egyptian President Anwar Sadat on Sunday to negotiate a peace settlement with Israel and "stop the public bombast."

Israel also named a new military chief of staff.

Eban was referring to Sadat's statement Saturday that "the time for battle has come, there is no more hope." During a tour of Suez Canal positions, Sadat urged his troops "to be ferocious in battle, to prove to the world that we are a fighting people who know how to defend our dignity and honor."

Sadat also told pilots at an air base that Egypt had broken off discussions with the United States on U.S. proposals for an agreement with Israel to reopen the Suez Canal. He accused "Washington of retreating from its declared policy of seeking a peaceful settlement and said it now wants 'by all means to achieve Israel's goals.'"

Egypt's Arab Socialist Union, the government political party, met in Cairo Sunday to discuss defense plans and organizing civil defense units.

It urged the Egyptians to assume your responsibility, determine your own destiny and restore your lost lands," a reference to Arab territory captured by Israel in the 1967 war.

Eban said Sadat's speech to the troops combined "a military threat with political extortion" which "can bring nothing but disaster to his nation and region."

"We shall, of course, not yield to military intimidation or to political pressure," Eban declared.

Other government officials accused Sadat of "heightening war hysteria" and said he left Egypt "little way out of a confrontation." But the official said: "Still he does not close the door completely to a political settlement. He leaves a narrow space open, but let's hope it is not too narrow."

The Israeli government also named a new military chief of staff to succeed Lt. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, who had served an extra year in the post. His replacement, taking over Jan. 1, is Maj. Gen. David Elazar, 46, who ran the successful anti-guerrilla campaign in northern Israel from 1964 to 1969. For the last two years he has been chief of operations, the No. 2 job in the Israeli military hierarchy.

Bar Lev, who has been chief of staff since Jan. 1, 1968, will become minister of industry.

$37,000 Paid for Capone Car

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP) — A bulletproof Cadillac sedan, once owned by gangster Al Capone and later used by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, brought $37,000 at an auction of antique automobiles here.

The car with a quarter-inch-thick boiler plate today and one-inch-thick windows, was among 43 old-timers sold Saturday by the Antique Auto Museum, which is going out of business.

The second highest price—$29,000—was paid by a private collector for a 1963 Lincoln Continental used by the late President John F. Kennedy.

Roosevelt used the big Cadillac once owned by the mobster because of its safety features, which included self-sealing tires and tubes.

Motorists Wouldn't Give Aid to Girl

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Why didn't at least one of 100 or more motorists stop to assist a 10-year-old girl who stood along a busy expressway, partially clad and pleading for help?

Police in Monroe County sought the answer today, as they looked for clues in the rape and strangulation death of Carmen Colon.

To help find the killer, Rochester's two newspapers and other groups have offered rewards totaling more than $4,000 for information leading to the arrest of the girl's slayer.

The Democrat & Chronicle and the Times-Union said they received more than a dozen calls Sunday, but few seemed related to the case. Some came from motorists who said they saw the girl or a "suspicious" man on Interstate 490 last Tuesday.

Police said the girl disappeared that day while on a shopping errand for her mother. They theorized the child was kidnapped, escaped and ran along the highway hoping for help.

Her body was found by two teenagers on Thursday along a rural road in suburban Riga. A medical examiner said she had been raped and strangled.

Motorists who contacted police after the girl's body was found and reported seeing the child along the superhighway said traffic was heavy and moving at upwards of 60 miles an hour. Some said they could not have stopped to aid her because of the traffic.

Connally Raps Meany Plans Course to Wage Spread Force Nixon to Kick Him Off the Pay Board

By STERLING F. GREEN

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally today deplored the Pay Board's approval of a 15 per cent coal wage increase and accused AFL-CIO President George Meany of arrogant and boorish conduct.

Connally repeated, at a news conference, his earlier accusation that Meany is out of step with rank-and-file workers. And as for AFL-CIO's decision to stay on the Pay Board but apparently not to cooperate with it, Connally said:

"We cannot permit one man to put himself above the working people of the United States."

The secretary, who is also chairman of the Cost of Living Council and President Nixon's chief foreign economic representative, also:

—Announced that he has called a meeting of the so-called Group of Ten biggest industrial nations on Nov. 30 in Rome. He said he was "very hopeful that progress can be made" but that more meetings will have to be held.

—Acclaimed the nation's progress against inflation during the 90-day wage-price freeze that ended eight days ago. Unemployment is improving, he added, and an already evident business recovery will accelerate, he said, when Congress passes what he called Nixon's stimulative tax programs.

Connally assailed the 77-year-old Meany for what he pictured as the virtual snubbing of President Nixon during Nixon's appearance at the AFL-CIO national convention in Bal Harbor, Fla.

"In my humble opinion the actions of Mr. Meany in Miami last week reflected an arrogance and a boorishness and a discourtesy that ill become a leader of the labor movement in the United States," Connally said.

In Miami Beach, almost simultaneously, Meany was denying that the convention had treated Nixon rudely. There was no booing and no jeering, he said, and union delegates applauded Nixon several times, he said. Nixon, he added, had tried to contrive a clash.

Architect Gives House to State

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Stone-Walker house, Fayetteville birthplace of internationally known architect Edward Durrell Stone of New York, was given to the state Saturday.

Stone, in ceremonies at the house, presented the deed to Gov. Dale Bumpers so that the property could be made part of the state parks system.

The house was constructed in 1945 by Judge David Walker, who sold it to Steven K. Stone, grandfather of Edward Stone.

"This house will stand as a monument to a great family and represents the concern for historical preservation by a great man," Bumpers said.

Members of the state Parks and Tourism Commission and Sen. J. W. Fulbright also attended the ceremony.

Asks Bumpers to Reduce Bond

TUCKER INTERMEDIATE REFORMATORY, Ark. (AP) — The State Board of Pardons and Paroles has voted to ask Gov. Dale Bumpers to reduce to $7,500 a $15,000 bond forfeiture judgment.

The judgment was entered against Mr. and Mrs. Tom Miller by Circuit Court Judge John S. Mosby of Lepanto when the Millers' son, Wesley Miller, 24, failed to appear in court.

Miller had been due to appear for trial in Craighead County on charges of illegal possession and sale of narcotics. He had been arrested in December by Jonesboro police during a raid on a Jonesboro residence.

Denies Nixon Treated Rudely at Labor Meet

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany denied today the labor convention had treated President Nixon rudely and accused Nixon of trying to contrive a clash.

Meany said Nixon was offered every courtesy, and that his speech to some 2,000 delegates and guests last Friday was applauded a number of times.

"There was no booing. There was no jeering," Meany said.

He conceded that a number of delegates laughed when Nixon said his wage-price control program was working.

"I think we still have a constitutional right to laugh," said the 77-year-old labor chief to warm applause and a standing ovation when he finished by saying "This is still a democracy."

Meany said he asked delegates and guests to be seated when large numbers of delegates started to converge toward Nixon.

"I committed the cardinal sin of saying 'Let's go on with the second act.' Well, that was my reaction," Meany said to loud convention applause.

Martha Silent on Arrival in State

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Martha Mitchell, wife of U.S. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, will be the honored guest at a performance of the Arkansas Symphony here tonight.

Mrs. Mitchell, a native of Pine Bluff, arrived at the Little Rock airport Sunday afternoon and was greeted by a contingent of family and friends who drove her back to Pine Bluff.

Mrs. Mitchell, who has described her stay as just a "fun visit," will remain in Arkansas through Wednesday when she will leave to return to Washington, D.C.

With her are her daughter and son, two FBI men, her secretary and press agent.

While she is in Pine Bluff she will attend a series of private parties and luncheons with friends and family.

Slim Vote for Butz

WASHINGTON (AP) — By a surprisingly narrow 8 to 6 margin the Senate Agriculture Committee today approved President Nixon's nomination of Earl Butz to be secretary of agriculture.

The committee's approval was conditioned, however, on a requirement that Butz put all his agribusiness stocks in a blind trust and sell them within 90 days.

Referring to Butz's ownership of more than $100,000 of stock in Talstorn-Purina, Stokley Van-Camps and Intentional

cy. This is still not a monarchy."

Meany said Nixon himself departed from the minutely detailed schedule the White House itself had laid down.

He said contrary to reports that there was no escort committee for Nixon when he finished his speech, that there was such a committee but Nixon literally bolted from the platform, his security men pulled back a rope barrier and Nixon plunged into the crowd to shake hands.

Meany said he asked delegates and guests to be seated when large numbers of delegates started to converge toward Nixon.

"I committed the cardinal sin of saying 'Let's go on with the second act.' Well, that was my reaction," Meany said to loud convention applause.

Meany has accused the Nixon administration of using the five public and five industry members to try to "goad" the five labor members into quitting the board which Nixon created to impose nationwide wage controls.

The fight, in which Meany has already announced a policy of noncooperation with Pay Board decisions that labor disagrees with, resumes today when the board starts drafting forms on which wage hikes must be reported to the board.

"There's bound to be a fight over that," the Meany aide said.

Nixon told some 2,000 AFL-CIO convention delegates last Friday he would press his Phase 2 wage-price control program to the fullest whether they cooperated or not.

Before Nixon left the hall, Meany gavelled the convention to order and said "We will now proceed with Act II." Nixon canceled plans to spend the weekend in Florida and flew back to Washington amid reports he was angry over his reception by the AFL-CIO which the White House denied.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the 1968 Democratic presidential nominee whom Meany supported against Nixon, said in Washington that Nixon had sought to provoke the AFL-CIO confrontation.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, a potential Democratic presidential contender along with Humphrey, shrugged it off as just one of those uncomfortable incidents in today's confrontation politics.

Humphrey, Muskie and Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, an announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination canceled appearances before the AFL-CIO today to remain in Washington for a Senate vote on a crucial political financing bill that Nixon opposes.

Minerals and Chemicals, the committee said no further agribusiness stock is to be purchased by Butz if he is confirmed as secretary by the Senate.

Butz, the 62-year-old Purdue University dean, raised great controversy in three days of hearings because of his alleged advocacy in the past of agribusiness interested over family farms and his scornful remarks about environmentalists and President Nixon's welfare program.

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — A close aide of AFL-CIO President George Meany said today the labor chieftain has set a deliberate course designed to force President Nixon to kick him off the Pay Board or junk federal wage controls altogether.

"It will happen long before next November's presidential election," said the aide, who declined to be quoted by name.

Meany is already committed to trying to oust Nixon from the White House next year.

Asked if this meant Meany will seek to "goad" Nixon into throwing the three AFL-CIO members off the Pay Board, the aide said flatly, "Yes."

"Meany wants Nixon to kick him off the Pay Board," said another AFL-CIO source close to labor's Pay Board strategy.

Meany has accused the Nixon administration of using the five public and five industry members to try to "goad" the five labor members into quitting the board which Nixon created to impose nationwide wage controls.

The fight, in which Meany has already announced a policy of noncooperation with Pay Board decisions that labor disagrees with, resumes today when the board starts drafting forms on which wage hikes must be reported to the board.

Hopes to Defeat Antipoverty Bill in Arkansas High Court

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A White House-led lobbying effort to defeat a multibillion-dollar antipoverty bill has been launched in the House in hopes of sparing President Nixon the choice of signing or vetoing it.

The bill, a compromise between separate versions already passed by the House and Senate, contains a provision for a new child-care program which has aroused intense opposition from conservatives. However, it has equally strong support from civil rights, labor and women's organizations, and Nixon will be in trouble with one side or the other no matter what he does.

In an effort to free him from the dilemma, White House congressional operatives are working with House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and Southern Democrats to line up votes against the bill. Backers have delayed a vote until Dec. 2 to allow time for gathering their votes. In addition to the child-care program, the bill authorizes a new legal-services program for the poor and extends for two more years job-training programs for needy youths, community action programs and other activities run by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Traffic Toll Turkey Day May Hit 720

CHICAGO (AP) — Between 620 and 720 persons might be killed on the nation's highways over the long Thanksgiving weekend, the National Safety Council estimates.

The 102-hour period covered by the estimate begins at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ends at midnight Sunday. During the same period, 27,000 to 32,000 persons might be injured in highway crashes, the council said.

The council, which makes no count of its own of fatalities and injuries, said there were 651 fatalities during the 1970 Thanksgiving holiday weekend. The Associated Press count for the period was 646. The highest Thanksgiving weekend toll recorded by The AP was 764 in 1968.

Convictions of Five Reversed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court reversed today the Logan County Circuit Court convictions of five persons because evidence against them was insufficient without the testimony of an accomplice whose story was not corroborated.

In the unanimous opinion by Chief Justice Carleton Harris, the Supreme Court also said that a statement signed by one defendant as a waiver of rights was defective.

The defendants were Billy E. Hutson, Paul Moore, Larry Cunningham, Johnny Wayne Cunningham and Dorothy Lois Little.

Hutson, Moore and Larry Cunningham were sentenced to two years for burglary and one year for grand larceny and Johnny Wayne Cunningham and Mrs. Little were sentenced to one year for grand larceny.

The charge stemmed from the burglary of Nov. 11, 1970, of Sam's Tavern in Paris.

Mary Shifflett, 13, of Mansfield, who was with the defendants when their car was halted in Paris about 3:30 a.m. on that date, testified that the defendants parked a car behind the tavern, some of the occupants of the car got out and later returned with money and a case of beer.

No beer was ever seen by any officer and none of the authorities reported finding any money in the possession of the defendants. Evidence aside from the testimony of the accomplice was insufficient to convict the defendants, Harris wrote.

Citing an earlier case, he explained: "Under the statute, a conviction for a felony cannot be had upon the testimony of an accomplice unless corroborated by other evidence tending to connect the defendant with the commission of the offense; and the corroboration is not sufficient if it merely shows that the offense was committed."

Harris said the test of sufficiency of corroboration is whether the other evidence would establish a connection between the accused and the offense if the testimony of the accomplice were eliminated.

An officer testified that Mrs. Little signed a statement waiving her rights and that the statement advising her of her rights included this sentence: "We have no way of giving you a lawyer, but one will be appointed for you, if you wish, if and when you go to court."

Harris said that because of that sentence the statement of waiver did not comply with the U.S. Supreme Court requirements under the noted Miranda ruling.

In that case, the U.S. Supreme Court said that if police

Chancery Court Ruling Is Affirmed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court affirmed today a Carroll County Chancery Court ruling in a suit contesting a will because the parties who appealed failed to file a summary of the issues.

Chief Justice Carleton Harris wrote the unanimous Supreme Court opinion upholding the ruling by Chancellor Ted. P. Coxsey in a suit filed by John Donald Fry. Fry contended that he had been disinherited because his father, William W. Fry, suffered from an insane delusion toward the son.

The record of the trial, including 355 to 360 pages of testimony, was filed with the Supreme Court, but Harris said his Court had stated "in numerous cases that it is not practical for the seven members of the court to examine the one record filed here."

Since the burden was on Fry to furnish an abstract of the testimony to give members of the court an understanding of the question or questions presented and since Fry's case was dependent on the testimony he failed to abstract, the Supreme Court was unable to consider the case on its merits, Harris wrote.

Therefore the court affirmed the decision.

Campaign Financing Has Sparked Bitter Debate

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate defeated 53-43 today a Republican amendment to put off the operative effect of a Democratic-sponsored presidential campaign financing plan until there is a surplus in the federal budget.

The deficit in the current budget is estimated at more than $25 billion. There has been only one surplus in the last decade.

The amendment was the first in a long series to be offered by Republicans during the day in an effort to hamstring the campaign financing plan.

The final vote on it is scheduled for 5 p.m. EST, although parliamentary hassles might bring a longer delay.

Democrats narrowly defeated a GOP effort last week to delete the campaign spending rider from a $27-billion tax-cut bill.

A final vote on the rider was scheduled late today, to be followed by a vote on the tax bill.

The rider would allow taxpayers to contribute $1 to a national political fund by checking a box on their income tax returns.

Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., Republican national chairman, said he would offer an amendment to appropriate $20.4 million directly to the Democratic presidential nominee next year and eliminate the checkoff procedure.

Dole said this would remove the complexities and give Democrats the money they seem determined to get.

Republicans have no intention of using the checkoff funds, he said. The rider requires that any party accepting the tax funds forego other campaign money.

The White House openly entered the fight against the plan over the weekend.

Clark MacGregor, President Nixon's chief legislative liaison, said the President views the proposal as "unwise and irresponsible."

Nixon would have to consider vetoing the tax bill, a centerpiece of his new economic program, if Congress ties the campaign fund rider to it, MacGregor said.

Democrats may accept one GOP amendment which would make a significant change in the campaign-financing plan.

Shocked Over Honest Man

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I was completely shocked," said Lorin White. "In this day and age I did not think there were any more honest people especially in Los Angeles."

What shocked White? He lost his wallet Nov. 12 and last weekend received it back anonymously through the mail, its contents intact—including $40 in cash.

Court Rules for Women on Discrimination

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled unanimously today that "arbitrary" discrimination against women is unconstitutional.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger spoke for the court as it struck down an Idaho law that gave men preference over women in administering estates.

The ruling was the first ever by the high court to ban sex discrimination under the "equal protection" clause of the 14th Amendment.

The House of Representatives has approved a constitutional amendment guaranteeing women equal rights. The ruling came as a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee was about to hold a session on the proposed amendment. The effect of the decision on the amendment was not immediately clear.

In the past, the court has used the same provision of the 14th Amendment to protect Negroes against discrimination. The clause was the basis for decisions beginning in 1954 that prohibited racial segregation in the public schools.

The 14th Amendment was ratified in 1868. Section 1 includes the admonition that "no state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States ... nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

In the Idaho case, Mrs. Sally Reed, an Ada County woman, had been denied under state law appointment as administratrix of her son's estate. The father, Cecil Reed, had filed a competing petition for appointment. Both parents, who were separated sometime before their son Richard's death, were equally entitled to administer the estate. However, under Idaho law, a man is given preference over a woman when they are on equal footing in estate proceedings.

Methodist Kindergarten Has Thanksgiving Party

On Friday, November 19, the children of Methodist Kindergarten celebrated Thanksgiving with a party at the kindergarten. All week the children studied, planned and prepared for the celebration. In social studies, with the help of maps, globe, and books, they became familiar with the story of the First American Thanksgiving. In science, they pursued the principles of moisture, great heat, steam and pressure involved in popping corn. Thursday they constructed a walk-in log cabin and, on Friday, with a child-size teepee and Indian headaddresses which they had made in art, they dramatized the story of the Pilgrims and the friendly Indians. Before the "feast", which the children had prepared themselves, the group went into the sanctuary of the church where they enjoyed the stained glass windows, sang a hymn and heard the teacher read a prayer which the children had composed themselves.

To add to the festivities of the week Kelley Riggs was honored on her fifth birthday by her mother who sent a treat of delicious homebaked cupcakes.

Shower for Bride-elect

On Friday, November 12, Glenda White, bride-elect of Ronald Porter was honored with a miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. Herman Bell, Jr. The hostesses were Mrs. Margaret Porter, Mrs. Dee McMurrough, Mrs. Joyce Martin, Mrs. Verna Ayers, and Mrs. Linda Bell. The honoree was presented a kitchen corsage. The hostess gift was an electric buffet fry pan.

After two very interesting bridal games the bride-elect opened many lovely and useful gifts.

The brides colors of green and gold were used in the decorating scheme. The serving table had a green cloth overlaid with beige lace. A lovely gold floral arrangement completed the decoration.

Cake decorated with deep gold flowers, mints, nuts, and green frosted punch were served to those present.

Bridge Club Play

Mrs. Tom Kinser entertained her Friday Bridge Club on November 19, and the two tables of players included one guest, Mrs. Dewey Camp of Oxford, Miss. High scorers for the afternoon were Mrs. Camp and Mrs. R. E. Jackson.

The hostess served a sandwich plate and coffee.

Music Club Meets

Achieving musical involvement for all, rather than the talented few, was discussed at the Friday Music Club program Friday, November 19, in the home of Mrs. W. E. White. Henry David Thoreau was quoted as saying, "The woods would be a very silent place if no birds sang there except those that sang the best."

After a few remarks about the far-reaching effect of public school music, the program chairman, Mary Anita Laseter, gave a brief sketch of the life of Olive Dungan, who has written music and directed work in the public school music field for some time.

Several of her compositions were performed by club members. Mrs. Charles Snowden sang "New Day," accompanied by Mrs. B. C. Hyatt, pianist. Mrs. B. W. Edwards played "Blue Haze" as a piano solo, and the Club Chorus sang "Eternal Life." Mrs. Hyatt concluded the program by playing "Mirror Lake."

Mrs. Snowden told about the Hymn of the Month, "For the Beauty of the Earth," before the club president, Mrs. Helen Hatch, conducted the business meeting. It was announced that the club had received 100 points in rating for its outstanding work, and that the National Board meeting of the American Federation of Music Clubs would be held in Hot Springs in August 1972. On Friday, December 10, the Friday Music Club will have a Christmas program at the First Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p.m., and the public is invited.

THIS LOVE HAS NO BOUNDS

Dear Helen:

My trouble is I can't say "No." I want everybody to love me as much as I love them, and when I'm grateful I have to show it. That's why I'm having affairs with the husband-and the son-of this wonderful woman I work for. I think that she is the greatest, and it seems the only way I can be a part of her life is by sharing all of it with her. They're the most beautiful people I've ever met.

But I'm afraid she wouldn't understand that this is happening because I love her. You see, I lived in a commune before coming here, and I guess I have different attitudes. To me, sex is giving and sharing and the best way to show you want to be part of the family. —NEARLY 19

Dear 19:

Either you're putting me on (somehow I doubt it—you didn't show up on my hoax radar screen), or you're fooling yourself to save your conscience, or you honest-to-gosh BELIEVE sex proves love, as you've been taught in the commune.

Whether you're making excuses or you actually DO march to a different drummer, you need a refresher course in "life as it is." Look, my naive "giver and sharer," you're being used and "look" by two (or more) men who see you as a dumb little pushover who can communicate only with her body.

When your employer learns of your "great love," you'll learn what hate is! I'd suggest you either drift back to a commune where at least you're understood, or revise your thinking to fit the conformist outside world. . . and that may mean prolonged sessions with an unsupceptible (or resistive) therapist.

Otherwise, you're destined to have a lot of mad women baying at those round heels. —H.

Dear Helen:

Because of my husband's habitual drinking and disregard for my feelings, I refuse to share the same bed.

He says it's my duty as a wife to satisfy his desires. It's as if I'm bought and paid for, therefore I can be used. I say he should earn my love and respect. Who's right, Helen? —SEPARATE BEDROOMS

Dear S.B.:

You're both wrong!

"Love" demanded is love destroyed.

Sex withheld to effect reform destroys the last trace of love, and also most hope of reform. Why not get down to the root of the problem? Find out why your husband drinks excessively (A.A. or Alanon can help here). Ask yourself, "Do I reject him because of his drinking or is this a handy excuse?" And answer honestly!

In other words, dig until you find the real reason for disliking each other. And if you can't change things—with the aid of a counselor perhaps—then think seriously about separate lives, not just separate bedrooms. —H.

Dear Helen:

This letter is a long overdue thanks. The unbelievable happened after you published my name as a candidate for "shut-in" mail several months ago. I'm grateful beyond words!

I have received thousands of letters and cards from people in all walks of life, all kinds of backgrounds: the rich, the poor, the educated, the not-so-educated, the young, the old, the teenager, the middle-aged (youngest correspondent, age seven, oldest, 94), men, women, boys, girls, the professional, the homemaker, the student. . . Not one negative letter or remark in the entire lot. It has been a most fantastic experience—one which has convinced me (if in reality I needed convincing) that our country is still in the hands of warm, friendly, concerned, happy, compassionate, generous, BEAUTIFUL human beings!

Penn State Pulling for Texas to Beat Aggies

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Penn State will be pulling hard for a Texas victory over the Texas Aggies Thanksgiving Day because the Nittany Lions still feel there's some unsettled business from the 1969 season.

You remember the fuss when Texas defeated Arkansas in Big Shootout I with the nation and President Nixon looking on. He proclaimed Texas national champion and the Longhorns grabbed the mythical title with a 21-17 victory over Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl.

Penn State raised cane but the Nittany Lions passed up a chance to play the Longhorns by voting to go to the Orange Bowl.

Now Penn State is coming to the Cotton Bowl as the guest team. The host team will go to Texas if it defeats A&M. Should the 'Horns tie or lose, Arkansas will come.

Penn State star running back Lydell Mitchell said Penn State would have never voted to go to the Orange Bowl in 1969. "If we had known for sure that we could have played Texas for the undisputed national title. Things like that just happen, but I can tell you the feeling of the team to go to the Cotton Bowl (this year) is as strong as it was to go to the Orange then."

Offensive tackle Dave Joyner said "Although Arkansas is a fine football team we really would prefer to play Texas. Texas is a team that has been in the public eye the past few years. We'd like to prove ourselves against them."

The Aggie-Texas showdown to decide the Southwest Conference championship also will determine whether Arkansas meets Tennessee in the Liberty Bowl Dec. 20 on prime time national television. Should Texas win, the second-place Razorbacks would play in the Memphis, Tenn. post-season classic.

Arkansas defeated Texas Tech 15-0 Saturday to complete its SWC slate at 5-1-1. Texas has suffered one league defeat — at the hands of the Razorbacks.

In other SWC games Saturday, SMU climbed hapless Baylor 20-6, Berl Simmons kicked a 41-yard field goal with 21 seconds left to give TCU a 20-19 victory over luckless Rice, and Houston thrashed Miami 27-6.

Aside from the Thanksgiving Day showdown between the fast-improving Aggies and the Longhorns, Baylor is at Rice, TCU is at SMU and Utah is at Houston next Saturday.

Texas quarterback Eddie Phillips worked out briefly Saturday for the Longhorns but did not test his sore shoulder. Substitute Donnie Wigginton is considered the likely starter at signal caller for the 'Horns.

Texas A&M safety David Hoot says it doesn't really matter which quarterback Texas uses because Wigginton seems about as good as Phillips to me.

Penn State scouts will be there with notepads in hand. Joe Paterno, Penn State Coach who gave his team a lecture on state pride before the Nittany Lions crushed Texas Christian 66-14 earlier this year, had this to say about 1969 and 1971 after his team defeated Pittsburgh 55-8 Saturday:

"We felt we had to prove ourselves to Big Eight fans in those Orange Bowl games," Paterno said of his 15-14 victory over Kansas in the 1969 Orange Bowl and a 10-3 verdict over Missouri last year. "Now we hope we can show fans in the Southwest that we really can play a little football."

Any questions Arkansas or Texas???

Charges Drug Use in Pro Football

DETROIT (AP) — Ex-Detroit Lion star Alex Karras says that the use of drugs is widespread in professional football.

In a story written for the Monday edition of the Detroit Free Press, Karras said that former football player Dave Meggessey was "mostly right" when he alleged that many, if not most, professional football players use drugs to increase their ability and ignore injuries.

"I've taken shots, or novocaine injections, and I've taken pep pills, and so have a lot of other Lions and so do players on almost any team you'd care to name," Karras said. "It's a very common thing. Some players take 'em (pep pills) by the handful before a ballgame."

Karras said pep pills were as common as novocaine shots, which were taken to "play over" injuries.

He recalled taking shots during much of the 1964 season to ignore a groin injury, and not sleeping "18 hours in a whole week for weeks" because of the pain after the shot wore off the injured muscle.

While no one ever orders shots or pills, Karras said, pressure from coaches and teammates drives players to take them so as to perform when they are hurt.

Karras said the use of drugs went "as far back as I can remember," and said he had "to laugh at the clubs around the league who absolutely deny that this sort of thing exists."

Karras played with the Lions from 1958 until his release this fall.

"All the teams deny the existence of pills in their training rooms, too, or they keep it hush-hush. It is stupid to deny it because it is very prevalent and absolutely true," Karras said.

Lion team doctors Richard Thompson and Edward Guise earlier this year denied the common use of pills by Lion players.

At a conference following the death of Lion wide receiver Chuck Hughes of a heart attack, they estimated dispensing two pep pills in two years for ordinary treatment, and said all medication had to be authorized by them.

Johnson Wins Azalea Golf Tournament

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — "I'll probably break down and cry when I leave here."

George Johnson, a 32-year-old from Atlanta was talking about his reaction to his playoff victory over Ralph Johnston Sunday in the Azalea Open golf tournament.

"Sure, I'm a little excited," said Johnson, only the fourth black to win on the pro golf circuit. "You've got to be a little excited when you win. Winning for the first time, well, man, it's something else."

"I'm excited now, but I'll probably be a lot more excited later."

Johnson, who was in the vending machine business until he joined the pro tour three years ago, picked up $7,000 from the total purse of $35,000 when he ran in a 20-foot birdie putt on the first extra hole to defeat Johnston, a 30-year-old who was just completing his first full year on the tour.

Johnson had a final round 70, one under par on the 6,575-yard Cape Fear Country Club course and Johnston had a fine 66 as they tied at the end of 72 holes at 274.

Veteran Rod Funseth and New York club pro Terry Wilcox were just one stroke back and there was a group of five at 276—Labron Harris, Jim Jamieson, Bobby Mitchell, Herb Hooper and disappointed Jim Colbert.

The veteran Colbert threatened to run away from the field at one stage, taking birdies on seven of eight holes in one string to establish a two-stroke lead.

But he took a triple bogey on the 13th hole to knock himself out of it. He snaphooked his drive into deep rough, hit his second against a tree, punched his third back to the fairway, was shot in four, chipped on

IT'S CORNHUSKERS VS. SOONERS FOR LEAGUE TITLE AND NATIONAL CROWN

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Chief Turkey Taster

Egad, friends, it's a Thanksgiving treat beyond belief! Top-rated Nebraska against second-ranked Oklahoma, with the Big Eight Title and the national championship riding on the outcome!

The 61,826 football filberts who will jam Owen Stadium at Norman, Oklahoma, will be joined by several million home-bound experts via the magic lantern. I have already staked out my seat on the 50-yard line in the living room at Hoople Manor—um-kumph!

Seldom have two more evenly matched clubs met in regular season play. The Nebraska Cornhuskers, winners of 10 straight this year and undefeated in their last 29 outings, have been scoring at a 38.9 points-per-game clip with towering Jerry Tagge at the controls. The Sooners, led by versatile runner-passer Jack Mildren, have averaged 45 points per game in racking up nine straight wins.

Separating these two fine teams was an almost impossible task but the Hoople Computers detected a slight difference in the Sooners' favor. We see it Oklahoma 35, Nebraska 28, in a brilliant offensive show—har-rumph!

Records usually mean nothing in these traditional rivalries and this year will be no exception. We look for Georgia Tech to upset the Bulldogs 21-14, in their 66th pigskin meeting and Texas to defeat Texas A&M, 19-10, in the 78th renewal of this classic.

Two of the outstanding games on tap this Saturday match the Service Academies—Army and Navy—in Philadelphia, and the undefeated titans of the Southeastern Conference—Auburn and Alabama—for the league title in Birmingham.

We see The Midgies sliding past Army, 24-21, in their usual down to the wire finish. The Auburn-Alabama encounter will be just as exciting as the Pat Sullivan to Jerry Beasley passing combo battles the hard-running Alabama attack led by the brilliant Johnny Musso. The Hoople nod goes to the dogged Auburn crew. Make it Auburn 28, Alabama 22—har-rumph.

Now go on with the forecast and don't eat too much turkey.

4 Top Teams Have Crucial Games Ahead

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Now that the bowls have played the dating game, Nebraska and Oklahoma are about to play the rating game ... with Alabama-Auburn not far behind.

Much of the college football season will revolve around what happens on Thursday in Norman, Okla., and Saturday at Birmingham, Ala. In the former game, top-ranked Nebraska's defending national champions take on runnerup Oklahoma in the Game of the Week—Year, Decade, Century.

Two days later, Nov. 4 Alabama and No. 5 Auburn square off for bragging rights in the South.

All four titans had this week-end off but two other contenders for the national championship kept rolling along. Third-ranked Michigan turned back arch-rival Ohio State 10-7 on Billy Taylor's 21-yard gallop with 2:07 remaining, giving the Wolverines their first perfect regular campaign since 1948. Penn State, rated sixth, got three more touchdowns—nos. 26, 27 and 28—from record-breaking scorer Lydell Mitchell and crushed Pitt 55-18.

Then the bowl people went to work with open arms and came up with the following lineup:

Sun Bowl, Dec. 18—Iowa State, 7-3 with one game left, vs. Louisiana State, 7-3 with one game left.

Pasadena Bowl, Dec. 18 Memphis State, 4-6, vs. either Long Beach State, 8-3 with one game left, or an Jose State, 4-5-1 with one game left.

Liberty Bowl, Dec. 20—Arkansas, 8-2-1, vs. Tennessee, 7-2 with two games left. However, Arkansas could wind up in the Cotton Bowl if Texas A&M upsets Texas on Thursday.

Tangerine Bowl, Dec. 28—Toledo, 11-0, vs. Richmond, 5-5.

Peach Bowl, Dec. 30—Georgia Tech, 6-4 with one game left, vs. Mississippi, 8-2 with one game left.

Gator Bowl, Dec. 31—Georgia, 9-1 with one game left, coached by Vince Dooley, vs. North Carolina, 9-2, coached by Bill Dooley, Vince's brother.

Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl, Dec. 31—Colorado, 9-2, vs. Houston, 8-2 with one game left.

Cotton Bowl, Jan. 1—Penn State, 10-0 with one game left, vs. Texas, 7-2, provided the Longhorns beat Texas A&M in their finale on Thursday.

Rose Bowl, Jan. 1—Michigan, 11-0, vs. Stanford, 8-3.

Broyles Is Mighty Happy With His Sub Quarterback

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)

When the Arkansas-Texas Tech game ended Saturday Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles trotted onto the field, looking for a red jersey with a big white 16.

Seconds later, Broyles threw his arm around quarterback Walter Nelson.

It was Nelson who relieved Joe Ferguson in the second quarter Saturday and guided the Razorbacks to a 15-0 victory over Texas Tech. Ferguson bruised his right shoulder a week ago and it was obvious early that he did not have his usual zip.

With Nelson at quarterback, the Razorbacks abandoned their wide-open attack and went primarily with the run-oriented Wishbone-T.

The victory means Arkansas will have to wait until Thursday afternoon before making bowl plans. The Razorbacks have agreed to play Tennessee in the Dec. 20 Liberty Bowl at Memphis providing they don't qualify for the Jan. 1 Cotton Bowl at Dallas. Arkansas would be the Cotton Bowl's host if Texas A&M ties or defeats Texas on Thanksgiving.

The Razorbacks, who had thrown 285 passes in 10 games, completed two of eight Saturday for 27 yards.

"We had good field position and we didn't want to lose this," Broyles said. "We didn't want to give Texas Tech a break. We had the momentum and we didn't want to give it to them on a pass interception or a fumble."

Broyles said the Razorbacks practiced during the week with the idea in mind that Ferguson and wide receiver Mike Repond might not play against Tech. Repond suffered a deep thigh bruise last week.

Walter Nelson did all the practicing during the week except for a couple of snaps," Broyles said. "We worked on the Wishbone. He got the equivalent of three or four weeks work."

Notre Dame bowed to No. 14 Louisiana State 28-8 as Bert Jones passed for two touchdowns and scored a third; No. 8 Georgia was idle; ninth-rated Arizona State clobbered San Jose State 49-6 as Dan Whited pass for three touchdowns and Woody Green ran for 175 yards and No. 10 Colorado walloped Air Force 53-17 as Charlie Davis ran for 196 yards and John Tarver added 126.

In the Second Ten, No. 11 Tennessee downed Kentucky 217, No. 12 Texas was idle. No. 13 Toledo flattened Kent State 41-6, No. 15 Southern Cal battled UCLA to a 7-7 tie, No. 16 Houston whipped Miami, Fla. 27-6; No. 17 Arkansas blanked Texas Tech 15-0; No. 18 Stanford held off California 14-0; Northwestern upset No. 19 Michigan State 28-7 and No. 20 Mississippi was idle.

Broyles said Ferguson was about 80 per cent effective. "He felt like he would throw accurately, but couldn't put any zip on the ball."

Arkansas' defense was "fantastic," Broyles said.

Tech failed to make a first down on 11 of its 14 possessions. The Raiders managed only seven first downs during the afternoon and had only 151 yards total offense. Arkansas netted 345 yards and will replace Tech as the top defensive team of the conference.

Defensive end Ronnie Jones made two of the biggest plays for the defense.

Early in the first quarter Tech gained a first down at midfield when Marc Dove returned a punt 39 yards. At that point quarterback Joe Barnes rolled left with a blocker in front of him.

"This was one of the key plays in the game," Broyles said. "If he had gotten around Jones he would have made 15 yards or so and they would have had things going." Instead, Jones fought past the blocker and snared Barnes for a three-yard loss.

With the score 0-0 in the second quarter, Tech gained a first down at the Arkansas 31. Barnes' first down pass was deflected by linebacker Danny Rhodes and intercepted by Jones.

"They thought they were headed for a score and suddenly we've got the ball and the momentum," Broyles said.

After Jones' interception, Arkansas moved in for the first of Bill McClard's three field goals.

The only touchdown of the game came in the third quarter, less than 90 seconds after McClard's 39-yard field goal had given the Razorbacks 6-0 lead. Tech fumbled the ensuing kickoff and Jack Morris recovered at the Raider's 31. On third and two, Nelson faked to Mike Saint and headed to the right. He read the defense perfectly, turned upfield and raced into the end zone.

Tech came closest to scoring when it put together its only first downs of the second half in a fourth quarter march that reached the Arkansas 11. Rhoades' interception stopped the threat.

It was the first shutout of an 8-2-1 season and came in the last regular season appearance of 12 seniors.

"We'll miss this group of seniors," Broyles said. "The 12 of them have contributed so very much. We didn't have as many seniors as we usually have so the pressure on them was even greater."

The seniors are offensive tackles Mike Kelson and Tom Mabry, kicker Bill McClard, defensive backs David Hogue, Jack Morris, and Steve Birdwell, fullback Russ Garber, defensive end Ronnie Jones, tight ends Bobby Nichols and Billy Lavelly, center Bill Carter and Gus Risher, who held for McClard's kicks.

Undefeated Arkansas Tech Meets North S. of Aberdeen Nov. 27

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Undefeated Arkansas Tech will be among four teams competing in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Division I national football champions the weekend of Nov. 27.

Tech, 11-0, will meet North State of Aberdeen, S.D., 8-0-1, Saturday afternoon in Russellville.

Livingston University, 8-1, of Livingston, Ala., will face West Liberty Va., State, also 8-1, in a Friday night game in Steubenville, Ohio.

NAIA made the announcement of the pairings Sunday in Kansas City.

Benny Shepherd ruined AM&N's hopes of an upset when he returned a kickoff 90 yards to give Tech a 23-12 lead over the Golden Lions midway through the second period.

Shepherd's TD run came seconds after Bruce Swinton hooked up with Clephus Miller or a 60-yard scoring pass that cut the Wonder Boys' lead to 17-12.

Larry Brown scored four touchdowns for Tech on runs of one, 22, one and seven yards. Swinton completed 21 of 34 passes for 317 yards and two touchdowns, but the Lions couldn't cope with Tech's awesome running attack from the deceptive Wishbone.

The game did not count in the AIC standings. Tech wrapped up the conference title with a 6-0 record.

Southern State trounced the University of Arkansas at Monticello 49-18 to nail down second place with a 5-1 mark. Ouachita, which beat Henderson 21-14, finished third with a 4-2 record.

ord, UA-Monticello and Harding, which closed out with a 20-7 victory over State College of Arkansas tied for fourth at 2-4. Henderson finished 1-4-1 and SCA 0-5-1.

Steve Lamb threw two touchdowns and scored once to pace Southern State. He completed a 50-yard pass to Doug Neeley for one score and tossed a 37-yard TD bomb to Cleo House. Neeley also caught a 35-yard scoring pass from Williams. Williams scored once on a 30-yard run.

Southern State held a nine-point edge entering the final period but erupted for four touchdowns in the final 15 minutes.

Johnny Baker scored on runs of three and 10 yards to lead Ouachita past archrival Henderson. Henderson jumped off to a 7-0 lead on a 10-yard burst by Lewis Pryor, but the Tigers tied the score when Barry Bennett passed 14 yards to Charles Carozza with only 26 seconds left in the second period.

Baker scored one touchdown in both the third and fourth quarters as the Tigers gained a 21-7 lead.

Quarterback Tom Ed Gooden scored one touchdown, passed 13 yards to Bill Watts for another score and kicked field goals of 33 and 45 yards in Harding's victory.

Gooden, a sophomore, completed 13 of 21 passes for 149 yards. Split end Ronnie Feacock, a senior, caught seven passes giving him a career total of 201 catches and making him only the eighth player in the history of college football to catch 200 passes in a career.

Cowboys Get Senior Girls in Revenge Over PowderPuff Win Redskins

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We're a pretty good football team," said Coach Tom Landry.

"We're still in the race," countered George Allen.

Landry had just watched his Dallas Cowboys vault into the lead in the National Conference East with a 13-0 victory over Washington, regaining the spot they had been pursuing since being knocked off 20-16 by Allen's Redskins seven weeks ago.

But Sunday's triumph wasn't the only thing on Landry's mind. "We're thinking about Thursday," he said. That's when the Cowboys take on the Los Angeles Rams.

The game will be an additional Thanksgiving Day feast for National Football League fans, bringing together a pair of divisional leaders.

The Rams, harrassing quarterback John Brodie all afternoon and limiting potent San Francisco to a pair of field goals, made it a season sweep over the 49ers with a 17-6 triumph that put them atop the NFC West.

In the day's other "big" game—naturally all games in the NFL are big but some are bigger than others—Miami grabbed a bit of breathing room in the American Conference East as Garo Yepremian booted the Dolphins to a 17-14 victory over the Baltimore Colts.

Around the rest of the league, Kansas City kept on Oakland's heels in the AFC West with a 28-10 victory over Denver while the Raiders were squeezing by San Diego 34-33, Detroit stifled Chicago 28-3, Minnesota beat New Orleans 23-10, Pittsburgh beat the New York Giants 17-13, Cleveland crushed New England 27-7, Cincinnati belted Houston 28-13, the New York Jets whipped Buffalo 20-7 and and then missed a five-foot putt. He finished with a 69.

Johnston, well back in the field starting the chilly, windy day's play, birdied five of his first six holes and barged into contention. He finished about an hour ahead of Johnson and had to wait nervously while George played his last few holes.

Ralph was away on the par 4 first hole, the first playoff hole, and missed his putt. George made it from 20 feet to become the 16th first-time winner this season.

Ironically, the victory will not put Johnston in the Masters. This year, for the first time, all major tournament winners earn a spot in the classic at Augusta, Ga. And this year, for the first time, the Azalea is not classified as a major tournament. No black golfer has ever played in the Masters.

Senior power once again proved to be the outcome of the annual Hope High School Powder Puff Game, sponsored by the Student Council, as the Senior girls romped to a 22-8 victory over the juniors.

However the game was delayed due to the fact that none had the football to which the game was to be played with.

Philadelphia swatted St. Louis 37-20.

In tonight's nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m., EST) game, the Green Bay Packers invade Atlanta to take on the Falcons.

"Thirteen points just isn't a great deal by any means—unless the defense is playing like ours," said Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach, who scored the game's only touchdown on a 29-yard scamper the first time the Cowboys got their hands on the ball. Mike Clark got his foot into it twice for 6 and 48-yard field goals.

Brodie threw four interceptions, three of them picked off by Gene Howard. But the other one was the killer, a theft by Jim Nettles who ran it back 29 yards for a touchdown in the final minute of the first half that put the Rams ahead 14-6. Earlier Roman Gabriel had flipped a 13-yard scoring strike to Jack Snow.

"We knew we had the ability to control our own fate," said Dolphins Coach Don Shula, who left the Colts in 1970 to take over at Miami. "But by no means are we in." Baltimore has four games—including another one with the Dolphins on Dec. 11—to wipe out Miami's 1 1/2-game lead.

The Colts scored first on Don Nottingham's four-yard run in the first period. But in the third, the Dolphins bounced in front as Jim Kikic plunged over from one-yard out and Bob Griese hit Marv Fleming with a 10-yard touchdown pass. Before the period was over, though, it was tied again as Norm Bulaich bulled over from the four.

That left it up to Yepremian, whose 20-yard field goal with 6:20 remaining in the game provided Miami with the winning cushion.

The Broncos had hoped to give their new head coach, Jerry Smith, a winning debut—but Len Dawson had other ideas. The Chiefs' quarterback threw for three touchdowns and 294 yards.

Daryle Lamonica also threw for three for the Raiders, outshining the 321-yard aerial display by the Chargers' John Hadl. "We were good to the last play," said Hadl, who had San Diego on the Oakland four-yard line with 1:11 to play, only to have his potential game-winning pass picked off by the Raiders' Dan Conners.

When found though, the juniors made ready to kickoff.

Nan Arnold returned the kickoff eight yards to the Senior 35 yard line where on first and ten the fireworks started early as senior speedster Cindy Hollis took the handoff and galloped around right end 65 yards to paydirt with 6:59 showing on the clock. Going for the two point conversion the call again went to Hollis and again she swung right end for the score, giving the Seniors an 8-0, lead.

Now it was the juniors' turn to control the ball and they did just that, driving to senior 23 yard line on the running of Melanie Garrett and Mary Young, before a senior interception on fourth down at the 16 yard line killed the drive with 6:28 left in the second quarter.

With 5:54 left in the half, after a penalty had been stepped off against the seniors, Sandy Flowers took a handoff on a reverse and the result was a 78 yard touchdown romp around left end. Nan Arnold made the two point conversion good by running around left end for the score, thus giving the Seniors a commanding 16-0 lead.

SLC Title Race May End in Three-Way Tie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The chaotic Southland Conference football chase could wind up in a three-way tie for the championship this Saturday if Lamar University defeats Arkansas State in Beaumont.

Louisiana Tech and Trinity completed their SLC schedules in at least a co-championship Saturday. Trinity whipped Arkansas State 28-11 to pull even at 4-1 with Louisiana Tech which blanked Northeast Louisiana 23-0 in a non-conference tussle.

Lamar ran its record to 3-1 with a 23-14 victory over Texas-Arlington.

In the only other game involving a conference member, Southwestern Louisiana fell 20-10 to McNeese State.

Quarterback Mike Curry paced Trinity to victory over Arkansas State, passing for two touchdowns and running for a third. The college division team, setup a possible bowl appearance with its victory behind freshman tailback Charles McDaniel, who scored two touchdowns. He now has a season total of 104.

Athletic Association Has Turned Into Big Business in Arkansas

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—There is little similarity between the Arkansas Activities Association of today and the Arkansas Athletic Association that hired Johnnie Burnett as its executive secretary in 1946.

When Burnett took the position, the association had less than $12,000 in assets and operated out of a "rat hole." The staff consisted of Burnett and a part time secretary.

Now, the AAA has an annual budget of more than $200,000, has $167,000 invested, a staff of six and leases the third floor of the Arkansas Education Association building.

The name was changed in July 1969 when the duties of the organization were expanded to include supervision of all interscholastic activities — sports, band, debate, whatever.

"In 1946, the association adopted a proposal to initiate the football playoffs," Burnett said. "Most of those people thought at that time they were getting a man to administer the playoffs when they hired me."

Burnett says the first two or three years he was executive secretary, he functioned primarily as a detective.

"Eligibility was the biggest problem," he said. "The schools were very receptive because they wanted some rules and regulations. Schools were playing most anybody."

He said schools kept poor records at the time and that sometimes parents would alter a birth date.

"I can remember holding up a family bible in the light and I could see where the date had been erased and changed," he said.

He says ineligible players are the least of the association's worries now.

"When we do have inquiries, they come before the season starts," he said. "It used to be that we'd have a player play all season and then his team would have to forfeit the district championship."

The eligibility rules were lenient, to say the least.

An eligibility roster was exchanged between schools 10 days before a contest. On the date of the game, the referee called the role and the principal identified each player.

"The first time I coached I had three boys older than I was," Burnett said. "I was 19 and they could play until they were 21."

Now, to be eligible, a participant must be a bonafide student, must not be 20 years old and must not have attended grades 7-12 more than eight semesters. In addition, the parents of the pupil must live within the school district where the pupil attends school.

Burnett says high schools actively recruited athletes in the early years of organized competition.

"You had the best team money or jobs could buy," he said. "I don't mean to be critical. It was just a matter of self preservation."

He believes classification of schools and upgrading of officials were two of the biggest achievements of the AAA.

"Classification of schools has done more for athletics in the state than anything else," he said. The schools are classified by enrollment which means a Prescott or a Rison does not have to butt heads with a Fort Smith Northside or a Little Rock Central.

"Three or four states will have only one classification," Burnett said. "We have five—AAAA, AAA, AA, A and B."

In 1946, there were only 58 registered officials in the state. Today, there are more than 1,800.

"We'd just go down to a neighborhood grocery and pick up a couple of officials," he said. "We'd get a teacher or a student to work the clock. Now, you can go to Podunk and the officials will have polished shoes and be well groomed."

The AAA is a parent organization of the Arkansas Officials Association. Each year, the organizations conduct clinics in various areas of the state to improve the officiating and interest new officials.

Burnett says that he never saw a rule book during his 15 years as coach at Joiner.

"I'll bet there weren't 50 rule books in the state," he said. "Now, we make sure every coach has one."

The AAA began in 1904 as the Arkansas State Athletic Association of Schools and Colleges. The colleges and high schools split in 1912 and the Arkansas Athletic Association was formed.

The first year, the AAA had seven members. Now, every public high school in the state is a member.

During the early years, the annual state track meet was the big event.

"The National Guard had a big tent right there on what was Kavanaugh Field," Burnett said. "They lined off the field with string."

Today, there are state track meets in each classification and on the junior high level. Instead of one state basketball tournament, there are now 10 including two tournaments for girls.

Burnett says the boys state tournaments in Little Rock last year drew about 70,000 persons.

Burnett says the AAA, a non-profit organization, exists primarily on funds from the state basketball tournaments, the all-star games and fees charged schools.

He says that in 1956, that non-football schools paid the AAA 10 cents for each student in the top six grades and that schools which participated in football paid 15 cents per student. He says the rates have gone to 25 cents because the association has taken over all interscholastic activities.

"The Arkansas School Board Association had more to do with that decision to expand than anyone else," Burnett said. "They felt like we had done a pretty good job of supervising athletics. They also found that participants in the FFA, band and other things missed more school than athletes did."

The AAA rules require the sanction of extracurricular activities 30 days before the event occurs, but the association has not strictly enforced the rule for two years while waiting for everyone involved—schools and sponsors of events that would involve school activities—to become acquainted with the provision.

The rule came up recently when school bands from various cities failed to obtain AAA sanction to participate in a Christmas parade at Jacksonville. A school that participates in or hosts a nonsanctioned activity is automatically placed on probation in that particular activity.

"We've been pretty lenient, but our executive committee gave us an ultimatum this summer," Burnett said. "Evidently, it's a case of the people not knowing. After explaining the rules to them, they understand."

"We tell them, 'we believe in home rule in your district,'" Burnett said. "The thing that needs attention is when you call on someone else to help you do a job or when it's school against school. I don't think we've had a half dozen we haven't sanctioned."

Usually, the final decision rests with Burnett.

"Lots of time the staff will talk things over," he said. "If the decision is not right it can be appealed to the executive committee. I don't mind that. I can be wrong. If that's not satisfactory it can be appealed to the governing body."

The 16-member executive committee includes one representative from each of 14 athletic districts and two members from District 15, which includes Pulaski County. Burnett says the districts administer the AAA's program in their respective counties.

"This thing has given us a lot of headaches and it's going to give us a lot more," Burnett said. "But, we'll be all right if we can live through this year."

Trinity Defeats ASU for Chance at SLC Crown

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Trinity, displaying gritty defense near its goal, downed Arkansas State 28-11 here Saturday to clinch a share of the Southland Conference football crown.

Arkansas State outgained the Tigers 420 yards to 409, ran 92 plays to 57, and pushed inside Trinity's 20 four times without getting any points on those trips.

It was the first Trinity victory over ASU since 1965, opened the door to a bowl bid for the Tigers and gave them an 8-2 record, their best since going undefeated in 1954.

Tailback Calvin Harrell, who gained 48 yards in the first half, suffered a shoulder injury and did not play for the Indians in the second half.

Quarterback James Hamilton threw an ASU record 43 passes in the game, completing 17 for 224 yards and was intercepted four times.

The Indians took a 3-0 first-quarter lead on Joe Duren's 26-yard field goal, but Trinity drove 60 yards for a touchdown scored on a four-yard pass from quarterback Bill Curry to Bill Hodge.

Two 15-yard penalties helped Trinity move 80 yards for a second touchdown, scored by Greg Oliver on a one-yard run.

ASU stopped one Tiger threat, but, with 30 seconds left in the first half, an interception gave Trinity the ball on the Indians' 24 and Curry sneaked for the TD three plays later.

Why your electric bill is higher now than it was 15 years ago.

It's simply because you're taking advantage of the modern convenience of electricity. You're living better electrically.

The uses of electricity continue to increase in your kitchen, your den, your workshop—all through the house. Many of the more than 150 home appliances that you enjoy, but take for granted today, hadn't even been invented 15 years ago.

Sure you're using more electricity today. But why shouldn't you? It's clean, modern and dependable. And it's one of the biggest bargains in your family's budget.

We're Learning About Women!

Over the years we've found that many housewives want a bigger house or a better house so she and her family can be more comfortable.

We've had a world of experience in helping hard-working mothers get into the home of their dreams through a well-planned mortgage loan. Now it may be time to go to work for you.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

No Lasting Weight Loss Shown 'Sauna' Shorts Reduce Wallet

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I was wondering if there are any side effects or health hazards connected with using "hot pants" or "sauna shorts" and the like which promise to take inches off your tummy, waist and thighs? I would like to try some of these methods, but want to make certain they are safe first.

Dear Reader—I presume by hot pants you do not mean merely the short shorts that usually go by that name but rather so-called reducing shorts.

I would like to recommend to all readers a simple and excellent article that appeared in the September issue of Reader's Digest. Jean Carper reviewed this subject at some length in a consumer's report. In short, these inflatable devices are able to reduce only one thing—your pocketbook. The report points out that the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) did a study on prisoners and found that inflatable shorts had no lasting effects in reducing waist or high measurements. In fact, the U.S. Postal Service has gotten some of these promotional schemes out of the mail.

Weighted belts, inflatable clothing and effortless exercise have all proved to be ineffective in reducing body weight. Dr. Joseph Davis of the FDA says many of these devices are "pure junk."

A lot of gimmicks that cause weight loss by the scales do not remove a single ounce of fat. They induce the body to eliminate water, which returns just as soon as normal living patterns are resumed. Simple bed rest will do that for you, if you stay flat on your back for 24 hours, you can lose about four or five pounds of water and it will come back as soon as you are back on your feet.

You can lose water by sweating it off by various devices, or heat or even by water immersion or, better yet, immersion of the body in warm water.

The only loss of body water that results in loss of fat tissue is sweat produced by physical activity.

I have mentioned this before, but will again — the electrical stimulating devices are often dangerous and have been known to cause death. The FDA obtained an injunction against the sale of the most popular one of these, the Relax-a-Cizer.

If you have one of these gadgets around, be warned.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Regarding the lady with the oily skin you wrote about, I had these problems for years so I can clearly understand how she feels.

I noticed a definite change when my doctor put me on birth control pills for about a year. My face cleared up completely. After I came off the pill it started again but not nearly as bad.

Dear Reader—I put your comment in the column because it is a good, accurate observation. Birth control pills often prevent oily skin and acne problems. The skin problems usually return when the pill is discontinued. This points up the influence that sex hormones have on skin problems.

Oswald: "There are a lot of lessons in today's hand. The first two involve the bidding. With 16 high-card points and 5-3-3-2 distribution, South's hand qualifies as an opening no-trump. A good rule for anyone from beginner to world's champion is to open one no-trump any time your hand meets all requirements. Then North should take his partner right to game. House Blacks Plan Own Convention

By AUSTIN SCOTT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —
Clenched black-power fists shot into the air and smiles broke out all over the room when black members of the House of Representatives announced they were calling a national black political convention.

It will be a historic first, people kept saying. Never before in the 352-year history of black America, slave or free, has there been such a convention. The Saturday night announcement raised two questions:

—Would this turn out to be the first step toward formation of a national black political party?

—Was the cooperation that has begun between mainstream black politicians and the black-nationalist community in the urban centers finally being extended to a national level?

The convening document specifically included "the nationalist community" in a group set up to meet before Christmas to work out convention mechanics. Two other categories were mentioned, "local elected officials," and "community organization leaders."

The House members said the convention will be in April or May. One member of the subcommittee that wrote the call was poet-playwright Imamu Baraka, the politically active Newark black nationalist formerly known as LeRoi Jones.

The convention call climaxed two days of open workshops and closed strategy sessions for about 200 black elected officials and political activists.

The closing speeches, which stopped just short of calling for a black nation, seemed to contrast sharply with those at the beginning, which dwelt on the need to build coalitions with other minorities, poor whites, women and the young.

But a number of black political strategists who spent much of the two days locked in private debate, argued that the differences were more apparent than real.

In his keynote address Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, spoke of coalition politics:

"We must create an all-out strategy to improve the quality of life for minorities wherever they may live," he said, adding that any "national black agenda" should provide "a united, single approach around the issues that bear upon black, brown, red, poor and disadvantaged people in this country."

Similar themes were repeated many times in workshops on health and housing, child care and political strategy. But others offered variations.

"We must put the interests of our group before the interests of others," said Rep. William Clay, D-Mo. And Texas State Sen. Barbara Jordan, noting that "the old coalitions began to fall apart in the 60s," said any new coalitions "will be different in form, different in style, but will relate to us and our blackness."

HUBERT SINGLETON

Hubert Singleton of the State Board of Education in Little Rock recently instructed the business students at RVTS in a ten-hour course in Occupational Adjustment. During the sessions, Mr. Singleton spoke on such subjects as attitude, good grooming, filling out the application, the interview, and getting along on the job. Those students who attended the classes received cards certifying that they have completed the course. The cards presented to the students should help to increase their chances of obtaining the job they want.

All letters must be signed, with address so you are identified to the newspaper staff, but if the character of the letter permits we will allow use of a pen-name in the publication, in case you should add "Citizen," or some other word below your real name and address.

Seeks Information

Editor the Star: No doubt as a writer you've sometimes written yourself into a sort of a hole and then wondered how to climb out of it. Well as a sometimes writer I seem to have done the same thing. Enclosed is a copy of an article I wrote sometime ago called "Skip Tracing". Well, this article gave our agent, a Mr. Dick Gooding the idea that I was pretty good at finding people and he is eager to locate a gal he married in Angola, Indiana on November 30th, 1942. Her name was Margaret Bacon and she was born in Hope. Her father's name was Erskine Neal Bacon Sr., and her mother's maiden name was Texa Alberta Dicker. On June 15th, 1919 when she was born the family lived at 319 S.

Pine St. Hope, Ark.

The marriage between Dick Gooding and Margaret Bacon was a short termed thing. She went back to Arkansas within a month after the marriage and a divorce soon followed. Dick hasn't seen or heard from her since that time. And now, Mr. Washburn, we get to the point of all of this. Dick wants to remarry and to clear up a religious question he must locate the former Margaret Bacon or at least learn of her fate. I've tried telephoning every Bacon in Little Rock and evidently there are none listed in Hope now. I've written the county clerks and tried to check through credit sources but nothing has produced a positive result. Well, I got to thinking and the idea came to me that there is positively nothing quite as effective in this whole darn world as a small town newspaper and a fired up editor.

Can you help me, Mr. Washburn? Do you suppose your readers might put me in touch with Margaret Bacon? This fellow is eager to get married and every morning he gives me that sick cow look and asks "Have you found her yet?" Will you help me tell him yes, soon? Sincerely

Mills Declares Promises Not Performances

BARRE, Vt. (AP)—Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., says the "wide disparity between the promises...and performance" of the Nixon administration is "too great to be ignored."

Mills, in a speech Saturday, said the administration has advocated one course of action and pursued an opposite course, discarding credibility.

The House Ways and Means Committee chairman is viewed as a possible contender for the 1972 Democratic party nomination for president.

"The man in the street cannot be faulted for questioning the truthfulness or the intentions of his government," when he can no longer assume its leaders mean what they say," Mills said.

"In the long run, this conduct may produce a loss of public confidence that will require years to restore," he said.

Speaking to a Vermont Democratic fund-raising dinner, Mills said Nixon announced the wage-price freeze after arguing strongly against the possibility of a government income policy.

Administration spokesmen also said repeatedly that retroactive wage increases would not be permitted, but, Mills said, "I believe labor, management and the general public realized that this policy would have to be qualified, restricted or withdrawn."

Forty-seven Hope High School juniors were installed into the Beta Club Thursday night, November 4.

After an informal dinner in the school cafeteria ceremonies began with a speech by club president Paul Young. As their names were called, each new member lighted a candle signifying their selection. They then repeated the Beta Club oath in unison, promising to abide by the principles of honesty, good conduct, and leadership.

Sponsors for the club are Miss Tomye Power and Mr. Phil Westfall.

Young Democrats Elect Officers at Convention

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Joseph Thomas of New Orleans became the only black officer of the National Young Democrats when he was elected as a vice president of the organization early today.

Thomas, 27, a law student at Loyola University of New Orleans, was one of three vice presidents selected as the Young Democrats wound up their four-day national convention.

Howard Carroll, 29, of Chicago and Donna Colbertson, 29, of Columbia, S.C. were elected as the other vice presidents. Joe Farmer of Omaha, Neb., was named secretary and Carroll Schubert of Austin, Tex., was elected treasurer.

Bob Allen, 31, a Phoenix, Ariz., lawyer, was elected president of the Young Democrats Saturday.

Henderson Trial to Hear Generals

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — Three generals are scheduled to testify today as defense witnesses in the court-martial of Col. Oran K. Henderson.

Henderson, who is accused of willfully concealing the killing of unresisting civilians by U.S. troops at the Vietnamese hamlet of My Lai will take the stand after the generals testify.

The defense has called Lt. Gen. Leo Forsythe and Maj. Gen. Frank Norris as character witnesses for the 51-year-old defendant.

Henderson was executive officer for the Army's Pacific Command in Hawaii when Forsythe was its commanding general. Norris is commandant of the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Va., Henderson's last duty station.

Also on the witness schedule is retired Brig. Gen. George H. Young Jr., who was assistant commander of the Americal Division when U.S. soldiers swept through My Lai on March 16, 1968.

Young, also with Henderson and 11 other officers, was charged initially with taking part in a coverup of the massacre after it became known to the Pentagon. The charges were dropped one by one until only Henderson was left to stand trial.

But last May, Young was censured and stripped of his Distinguished Service Medal, the military's third-highest decoration.

"History will conclude... I was finally dishonored, not because I did know, but because I did not know and was not told," he said at the time.

Young retired from the Army a few months later.

Witnesses have testified that Young ordered Henderson two days after My Lai to probe reports that ground troops were killing noncombatants. Henderson was commander of the 11th Infantry Brigade, the parent unit of the assault task force.

One of the charges against Henderson is that he willfully failed to obey the order for a thorough investigation. Another alleges that he did not notify higher command of the allegations. The third charge is that he lied to Army investigators.

Henderson contends that he tried to follow through on Young's order but that his subordinates deliberately withheld information from him.

Australian Pros in World Tennis Championship

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Australians Rod Laver and Ken Rosewall, two of the old-timers on the pro tennis tour, meet at high noon in Dallas Friday in a showdown for the richest prize in pro tennis history—$50,000.

And even the loser will be able to leave town in style. He'll get a check for $20,000.

Laver, who has earned more than $1 million since he turned pro in 1962, defeated American Arthur Ashe 6-3, 1-6, 6-3, 6-3 Sunday and Rosewall downed Tom Okker of the Netherlands in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1 to earn the finals berth in the World Championship of Tennis playoffs.

Laver, 33, and Rosewall, 37, couldn't help but remember how times have changed in pro tennis.

"I can look back on the game with satisfaction now," Rosewall said. "I was happy when I turned pro and I hoped I would do well."

"I never thought at that time that the pro game would amount to much more than it did then. But years later we felt there might be some chance for the open game because amateurs were getting more and more under the table payments."

"I'm just happy to be able to still play good tennis."

Rosewall and Laver certainly won't be strangers when they meet. Laver estimated the pair have met more than 100 times in competition. "We played each other about 25 times the first year I turned pro," Laver said.

Laver, who has won $272,717 on the tour this year, recovered from a second set lapse to de-

AP&L Plans Two Nuclear Plants

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas Power & Light Co. plans 1972 construction totaling $126.3 million, including $88 million on two nuclear-powered electric generating stations being built.

J. D. Phillips of Pine Bluff, AP&L vice president and chief engineer, said Saturday that the budget reflected construction necessary to keep AP&L ahead of increasing power needs.

More than $31 million is earmarked for Nuclear One, near Russellville, and about $57 million is to be spent on construction of Nuclear Two, also near Russellville.

Governors Assured of Campaign Role

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert J. Dole, the Republican national chairman, has assured GOP governors they will have "a piece of the action" in the 1972 presidential campaign.

But he said their specific role will depend on political decisions made by President Nixon and his campaign strategists.

"It's a little different when you have an incumbent president," Dole said in an interview. "You have to consider what the President wants."

What the governors want, according to their chairman, Gov. William G. Milliken of Michigan, is "a strong voice in how the national campaign is run" next year, and two of the top jobs at the GOP national convention in San Diego.

Dole said he will discuss those requests with Milliken early next month. But he said it is too early to start assigning specific roles, in the convention or the campaign.

He said some of those decisions will be made by Nixon's campaign manager, presumably Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

Republicans will govern 20 of the 50 states next year, and Milliken said they are in an ideal position to generate cooperation of people and government to solve such problems as racism, crime and pollution.

"To do this, we must have full participation in the 1972 convention, in drafting of the platform, and in the campaign itself," Milliken said at the Republican Governors Conference in French Lick, Ind., last week.

He already had written Dole asking that governors be assigned two key positions at the national convention, and that they participate in the presidential campaign organization, particularly in their own states.

Dole said the Committee for the Re-election of the President, which will become the Nixon campaign organization next year, is keeping the governors advised of moves being made in their states.

Highways Claim Five Victims Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five persons lost their lives on Arkansas' highways this past weekend, bringing the total number of deaths for the year in Arkansas to 603. Last year 533 persons were killed on the state's highways.

The Associated Press weekend highway death count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The victims were:

—Amanda Renae, 7, of Newport, was killed Saturday when she walked into the path of a car at Jacksonport.

—Bennie M. Carrington, 27, of near Star City, was killed Saturday when his car ran off a county road near Star City and struck a tree.

—Roger Wayne Watson, 24, of Little Rock was killed in a two-car accident Saturday night north of North Little Rock in which seven other persons were injured.

—Charles King, 44, and Katherine King, 51, both of Blocker, Okla., were killed Friday night north of Booneville when King's car crossed the center line and struck another car head-on.

feat Ashe for the 12th straight time. Ashe played well at times, breaking Laver's service twice in winning the second set.

Rosewall broke Okker's service three times in the first set and seven times in the match.

Homemakers Learn to Make Styles of Beads

Mrs. Bright at left is showing the group how to string the beads by slipping them from one string to another.

Mrs. Mullins, sixth from left, is showing the group how to start the crocheted beads by making the tassel first.

Mrs. Denham is instructing the group in making the Crown.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — The changing structure of the Democratic party was outlined Sunday in NBC's public affairs special, "The Loyal Opposition."

Three congressmen and three party workers discussed radical reforms planned for the party's convention in Miami next summer.

Talk concentrated on changes instituted by a party reform commission, especially new convention rules designed to result in a completely open convention and greater representation for women, minority groups and young people.

It was mostly frank intelligent political talk with campaign-type exhortations kept at a minimum.

Rep. James O'Hara of Michigan, chairman of the reform commission, promised television viewers that there would be "fewer dull speeches," sharp time limitations on nominating and seconding speeches and elimination of "phony demonstrations."

CBS broadcast the first in a series of historical re-enactments called "Appointment With Destiny" on Friday night. With all of recorded history to draw upon, the series premiered with "The Last Days Of John Dillinger," a midwestern badman of the early 1930s.

Between now and April the series will have specials about the abortive plot to assassinate Hitler, Wyatt Earp's shootout at the O.K. Corral, the crucifixion and the surrender of Gen. Lee.

The method of handling the subject matter in the first program was curious. Meticulous research was involved.

The actor who played FBI Agent Melvin Purvis, for instance, dressed for the final shootout with Dillinger in white trousers, blue jacket and straw hat that were discussed in newspaper accounts of the day.

NBC, also on Friday night, showed its "World Premiere," which had all the earmarks of a pilot for a future series—another go-around with Ellery Queen, an elegant amateurish sleuth of many novels.

Accident Rate Reveals Home Not as Safe as Most People Think

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Home isn't as safe as most people think it is. Nearly one of every four fatal accidents occurs there.

Surgery is much more popular in America than in Britain, where its employment is far more restricted. There are some 19 million operations a year in this country now, or one for every 11 people.

Red has been used as a symbol of danger for so long that many people no longer react to it. Some color experts believe that it should be replaced as a warning signal by yellow, which is highly visible in all kinds of weather. Because of this superior visibility, the German army used black and yellow road signs during the second world war.

One of the most weatherproof animals in the world is the Yak, the ox of the Himalaya mountains. Protected by thick hair and layers of fat, yaks are practically impervious to blizzards. They are so insulated against cold that they sometimes suffer heat prostration when brought below an altitude of 11,500 feet. Their tails are often used by Indian princes as fly whisks or badges of office.

Safety belts are now available for about four out of five auto passengers, but a recent study of accidents involving 13,000 people found that only 20 per cent of them were wearing any kind of seat belt.

Quotable notables: "The best executive is the one who has sense enough to pick good men to do what he wants done, and self-restraint enough to keep from meddling with them while they do it."

If you're on a diet, which should you avoid most—sugar or starchy foods? The answer, recent experiments seem to prove, is sugar. Tests at the Brookhaven National Laboratory indicate that sugar is two to five times as fattening as foods with a high starch content.

Know thyself: One of the reasons so many people die of heart attacks is that they don't recognize it when they're having one. They then fail to get the help they need. The American Heart Association estimates that half of the 500,000 people in this country who succumb to heart attacks do so before they even reach a hospital.

Worth remembering: "There are a lot of senile delinquents, too. And they'd be worse than juvenile delinquents if they only had the strength."

History lesson: Can you name two U.S. Presidents who enjoyed playing billiards? Billiards was a favorite form of relaxation for John Quincy Adams and James Garfield. Calvin Coolidge, on the other hand, never hankered for a pool hall. He preferred pitching hay, a hobby held by no other president.

It was Thoreau who observed, "The man who goes alone can start today. But he who travels with another must wait until the other is ready."

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Golden Richards of Brigham Young University ran his fourth punt return touchdown of the season Saturday, setting an NCAA record.

Richards shared the old record of three touchdown punt returns in a season with several other players.

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto Argonauts and Joe Theismann proved to their critics Saturday they wouldn't fold under pressure by holding the Hamilton Tiger-Cats to a 17-17 tie to win the Eastern Conference title of the Canadian Football League.

The Argos produced their first EFC title since 1962. They Eighty-two homemakers learn how to make different styles of beads at workshop conducted November 10 and November 15 by Mrs. Alphonso T. Denham, Associate Extension Home Economist and leaders.

The Crocheted Rope was the most popular style made.

Leaders assisting with the workshops were Mrs. Wilton Mullins, Mrs. Edgar Jurs, Mrs. Ivan Bright, Mrs. Bob Dillard, Mrs. Carrie Aaron, Laura Sue England and Judy England.

Because of homemaker's interest and enthusiasm in creating and making bead necklaces, Mrs. Denham and leaders are preparing for a third workshop to be held Tuesday, November 30 beginning at 7:00 p.m. in the Federal Building (Post Office) 2nd floor Conference Room. Interested? Pre-register at Extension Office by calling 777-5771. Mrs. Denham will advise on materials needed by homemakers in preparation for the workshop.

Changes Rules Discriminatory to Women

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The University of Arkansas Board of Trustees has changed two rules the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said discriminated against women.

HEW investigated employment practices last month and recommended several changes.

The board changed one rule to permit relatives to work in the same department so long as one does not supervise the other or have say over promotions. The rule previously had forbidden relatives to work in the same department.

The other rule change provides maternity leave for women for pregnancy. The woman may obtain the leave by giving two weeks advance notice and may resume employment with two weeks notice prior to termination of the leave.

took the two-game total-point series 40-25 on the strength of a 23-8 victory at Hamilton the previous weekend.
